Very recent PR video from SRS.

That final piaffe shows it all, show and no forward intention with the hindquarters.

First piaffe in the background was a horse on the forehand and behind the vertical.

The rest wasn't that assuring either.

2 video's, comparing the marvelous 27 year old Siglavy Mantua ridden by Klaus Krzisch one handed blanke kandare vs 18 year old Neapolitano Pastine ridden by Ernst Bachinger.

Video from 2011.

The (attempt to) courbette shows how the horses are pushed way too soon. It has not build enough strength in the hindquarters to perform, and they keep asking it.

The second time he tries his hands are also very worrying.

Video from the Marbach Classics Open Air, featuring young riders/horses of the SRS. Need no comment I assume...

Jona Landstra Good idea, but seriously, why this photo? This is not what dressage is about. I hope this is not the kind of riding you will promote in the future...

Picture posted by the SRS themselves on Facebook. After lots of negative comments regarding the closed neck posture in the left horse, they deleted the picture.

Picture taken at a show last year. I don't need to comment I assume...

posted by SRS on their Facebook page when they were touring in Europe. Notice the behind the vertical horse in the left background. Contact is firm so accidently is doubtfull. Also Hausberger on the front has his horse rather on the forehand.

A screenshot I took on my iPhone before they deleted it.

SRS tour official twitter account stating they are excited queen of Rollkur Anky Van Grunsven is presenting their show in the Netherlands.

The tweet got deleted a while later when people started commenting negatively on it.

The generic respons everyone received that had placed a negative comment/review on the SRS Facebook page regarding Anky VG presenting the SRS show in The Netherlands.

Several SRS riders posing with rollkur princes Edward Gal and Peter Minderhout on 2014 SRS gala event. Posted on Facebook by an SRS rider if I'm not mistaken.

Another picture of the two RK princes with chief rider Hausberger at the same gala.

The horses being used for all kind of 'attractions'. This time to promote the gala they are used in several pictures. Not the horse again behind the vertical in the background.

Another one from the Fete Imperial shoot. Harsh flash in the face if the horse. The horse clearly doesn't like it. But anything for the show...

Taken by a Dutch woman interviewing them this year for their appearance in The Netherlands. Clearly showing unparallel movement with a trailing hindleg and a flashy foreleg.

And 3 pictures from a very recent show they did with a lot of other riders/organisations.

Several pictures of Florian Bacher, doing an awfull single handed solo. Water skying seat, disfunctional hindpart and over flashy front legs moving unparallel. Swiching tail and behind the vertical, kandare pulled at 90°...
